EVALUATION QUESTIONS

To help evaluate how your Mentor/Mentee relationship is going or to direct future meetings together, you might ask your Mentee one or two the following questions:

- “What do you like most about our mentoring relationship?”
- “Was this time together helpful?”
- “Is there anything you would like to change?”
- “Are we meeting frequently enough?”
- “What could be improved upon to more effectively meet your needs?”
- “Do you have other suggestions or comments for improvement?”
- “How has your life been impacted through this mentoring relationship?”
- “What has been a highlight?”
- “What has been a challenge?”
- “What are the most important spiritual truths have you learned?”
- “What are/were your expectations for having a mentor one-on-one?”
- “Do you think we have accomplished the goals you had at the beginning?”
- “Would you be interested in continuing the mentor/mentee relationship?”
- “Would you like to move forward on your own or with another mentor?”
- “Would you consider being a mentor for another woman?”

You may use any of these questions or your own throughout your time together to help make this process more successful for both the mentor and mentee. The needs of women may be only for a season. We need to acknowledge that another mentor may be more suited to meet those different needs. The friend relationship may or may not continue after the mentor/mentee commitment has ended. This is okay. Thank you for serving as a mentor! Through God you are making a difference!
